CLIENT ASSISTANCE CARDS – STATE SALES TAX TREATMENT

Are purchases made with a Client Assistance Card (CAC) exempt from state sales tax? The answer depends upon where the purchase is made. The following chart shows which states do not charge sales tax on these purchases (indicated below as "Exempt"), and which states do charge sales tax ("Not Exempt").

This chart is up-to-date as of September 26, 2005. A handful of states have not responded yet, and others are still in the process of deciding how they will treat CAC purchases. At least one state (Mississippi) is expected to change its position and begin to treat purchases as exempt. This chart will be updated as additional information is obtained, so please check it again periodically.

The chart also provides a telephone number and website for the taxation department of each state, where additional information can be obtained.
